

=

Permanent crisis and the role of regional organizations – a pragmatic tool to address specific problems?

A Workshop comparing Europe and Latin America

Day I – What’s the problem? Regional organizations in a world of permanent crisis

- Regional organizations as crisis manager
- Regional organizations and crisis-decision-making processes
- Regional organizations, their simple rules and their response to crises

Day II – So, what does it mean? Limits and possibilities for regional organizations in times of crises

- Regional organizations and the problem of anticipating crises
- Regional organizations and the problem of expectations
- Options for reforming crisis-management decision-making processes

Day III – What now? The role of regional organizations in a world of permanent crisis

- Decision-making processes and the challenge of anticipating crises
- Political culture and the challenge of anticipating crises
- Regional organizations and the questions of expectations

Case studies

- The economic crisis of 2008 and beyond
- COVID-19
- Ukraine