October 19, 2 p.m.

Tips on easy reporting with Scopus and SciVal

Reporting is an important part of the research workflow for both researchers and organizations. Very often further funding depends on the report's results. At the same time, though, it can be a boring and time-consuming process. We'll demonstrate how to use Scopus and Scival features to make reporting easy and comfortable. Recommended for librarians and researchers in charge of creating reports on research.
