The Many Faces of Migration in Europe
Friday, April 20th, 2018 from 10 A.M.

To whom it may concern,

Lazarski University Students Club of Political Science invites undergraduate and graduate students (BA and MA degree) to apply for the conference "The Many Faces of Migration" which will be held at Lazarski University, Warsaw, Poland on April 20th 2018.

Contemporary migration substantially influences the political, social and economic reality of the European countries. Negative and positive narratives influence the perception of migrants. Politicians exploit migration as a source of political capital. The economic and social implications are often incomplete and biased.

The aim of this conference is to provide a venue for young people interested in the problem of migration. The exchange of different opinions and arguments will enrich students' knowledge and extend worldviews in a pursuit of a more complete understanding of the phenomenon of contemporary migration. The conference also aims to provide an opportunity to students to gain conference experience and to master their public speeches.

The one-day conference will consist of three panels. Each panel will contain four presentations (max 15 min. each) and an hour-long discussion.

The Club of Political Science will cover the real transportation costs of up to €200 and not more than two days of accommodation in Warsaw for the selected participants.

Students wishing to participate should include contact details of the author(s) and an abstract of up to 200 words. Proposals should be submitted via E-mail by March 2, 2017. All abstracts should be submitted to Tihana Tokić at tihana.tokic@lazarski.pl – the email should be entitled "Migration Conference Paper Proposals"

By March 10th Programme Selection Board will review all applications. Selected participants will be informed by email on their acceptance.
