RULE 1: INTRODUCTION AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

The CFA Institute Research Challenge is a competition between university-sponsored teams that research a designated publicly traded company, prepare a written report on that selected company, and then present their findings to a panel of judges. The competition has four levels: local, sub-regional, regional, and global. Winners at the local level advance to compete against teams within their geographic region at the sub-regional level. Winning teams at the sub-regional level advance to compete at the regional level. Winning teams at the regional level advance to compete at the global level. One team is designated the ultimate winning team, or champion, at the global level. No purchase is necessary in order to participate. The decisions of CFA Institute interpreting these rules shall be final and binding upon all teams and local level hosts.

Local level competitions are hosted by approved local level hosts. Local level hosts are responsible for the administration of the CFA Institute Research Challenge at the local level. No decision by the local level host regarding the administration of the local level competition shall conflict with these rules and in the event of any conflict, these rules shall govern. Local level hosts may add additional requirements regarding the administration of their local level competition as long as those requirements do not conflict with these rules.

CFA Institute is committed to creating a welcoming and safe environment for the Research Challenge where fairness, opportunity, and trust exist, allowing teams to leverage the diverse talents and perspectives of their Participants. Participants in the Research Challenge are ambassadors of their university, the Local Host, and CFA Institute. Actions in their professional and personal lives should reflect positively on CFA Institute, the Research Challenge, the Local Host, and the participant's university.

Any questions or uncertainties pertaining to the Official Rules of the CFA Institute Research Challenge should be directed to researchchallenge@cfainstitute.org.

1.1 Conflicts of Interest

All participants in the CFA Institute Research Challenge, including hosts, teams, team members, industry mentors, faculty advisors, judges, and graders have an obligation to avoid actual or potential conflicts of interest with their participation. A conflict of interest is any matter that could reasonably be expected to impair an individual's independence and objectivity or interfere with an individual's duties. A conflict may be actual or perceived. As an example, a conflict of interest may exist when a participant or a participant's family member or close friend is involved in activities that affect the participant's ability to perform his or her role fairly and impartially, but conflicts of interest can arise even without a personal relationship. For instance, hosts, mentors, and advisors also have an obligation to avoid purposefully or inadvertently pressuring teams to make a particular investment recommendation.

To avoid any actual or perceived conflicts of interest, each participant must disclose to CFA Institute in writing any potential conflicts, including but not limited to any ownership interest in the subject company and any close personal or professional relationships with employees at the subject company. Judges and graders must further disclose any close personal or professional relationship with team members, mentors, or faculty advisors. Potential conflicts of interest must be disclosed promptly upon becoming aware of the potential conflict.

CFA Institute (with assistance as necessary from the local level host) will investigate any disclosures of actual or potential conflicts of interest. If a conflict of interest is found to exist and cannot be reasonably and timely cured, the individual with the conflict of interest will be disqualified from participation. If CFA Institute determines that it is necessary to protect the integrity of the competition, CFA Institute may disqualify a team from the competition if any team member, industry mentor, or faculty advisor is found to have a conflict of interest that is incapable of being reasonably and timely cured. In extraordinary circumstances where a local level host is found to have a conflict of interest, CFA Institute may, in its discretion, disqualify the local level host and all teams from that location from participation in the CFA Institute Research Challenge. The decision of CFA Institute regarding the existence of a conflict of interest and its determination regarding the disqualification of any individual or team are final and binding.

1.2 Plagiarism

Plagiarism is defined as copying or using in substantially the same form materials prepared by others without acknowledging the source of the material or identifying the author and publisher of such material. Teams can read existing research on the subject company, but all analysis should be their own; they may not copy analysis (i.e., plagiarize) from another source.

Teams also must not:

- a. use excerpts from articles or reports prepared by others either verbatim or with only slight changes in wording without acknowledgment,
- b. cite specific quotations as attributable to “leading analysts” and “investment experts” without naming the specific references,
- c. present statistical estimates of forecasts prepared by others and identifying the sources but without including the qualifying statements or caveats that may have been used,
- d. use charts and graphs without stating their sources, or
- e. copy proprietary computerized spreadsheets or algorithms without seeking the cooperation or authorization of their creators.

The prohibition on plagiarism applies both to a team’s written report and its presentation.

Sourced information should be properly cited using a generally accepted citation system. Generally accepted citation systems include, but are not limited to, the Chicago Manual of Style, the Harvard referencing system, and MLA (Modern Language Association) style.

Allegations of plagiarism will be investigated by CFA Institute (with assistance as necessary from the local level host) and may be referred to the Professional Conduct Program. Team members found to have plagiarized will be disqualified and reported to the CFA Institute Professional Conduct Program. The team’s university may also be ineligible to participate in the following year’s competition. The decision of the local host or CFA Institute (as applicable) regarding plagiarism is final and binding.

1.3 Third Party Intellectual Property Rights

Related to the concept of plagiarism, respect of third party intellectual property rights is essential to the CFA Institute Research Challenge. While teams are free to include text, images, graphics, or other logos in their written reports and presentations as permitted by these rules, it is the obligation of each team to ensure that the use of any third party materials complies with all applicable copyright and trademark laws. Third party images included in any written report or presentation must be appropriately licensed from the images' owners. Where legally necessary, teams should secure the permission of the owners of any trademarks or service marks incorporated into their written report or presentation. CFA Institute encourages each local host to work with the subject company it selects to provide its local teams with the necessary permissions to use the local host's trademarks or other intellectual property in their CFA Institute Research Challenge written reports and presentations. By participating in any level of the CFA Institute Research Challenge, each team represents and warrants that neither its written report nor its presentation infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, trade secret or other intellectual property right of any third party anywhere in the world.

By participating in the CFA Institute Research Challenge, CFA Institute grants each participating team a non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable license to use the CFA Institute name and logo as specified in Appendix B to these Rules for the limited and specific purpose of that team's participation in the CFA Institute Research Challenge. Teams will use those materials only as specified in Appendix B and these Rules. No other use of CFA Institute's intellectual property is permitted. Teams may not change or alter the CFA Institute name or logo in any way.

1.4 Use of Reports

CFA Institute shall own the copyright in all materials prepared by or for hosts, teams, industry mentors, graders, judges, or faculty advisors in connection with the CFA Institute Research Challenge. The written reports and presentations prepared for the challenge may not be used for any purpose other than participation in the CFA Institute Research Challenge.

1.5 Participant Information

By participating in the CFA Institute Research Challenge, each participant acknowledges that CFA Institute collects, processes, and shares personal information of participants in the CFA Institute Research Challenges described in the CFA Institute Privacy Policy. Each participant agrees that CFA Institute and its affiliates (including the local host), shall have the right to use such individual's name, voice, photograph, likeness, their appearance in any medium or forum anywhere in the world (including online) without further compensation, unless prohibited by law.

1.6 Program or Event Modifications

If, for reasons beyond the control of CFA Institute and/or local hosts, such as labor strikes, Acts of God, natural disaster, government travel restrictions, health crises, judicial orders, fire or other casualty, civil commotion, terrorism or threats of terrorism, outbreak of disease or illness, the program and/or event format may need to be modified or, in extreme cases, cancelled.

RULE 2: TEAMS

2.1 Team Composition

Teams must be sponsored by a university¹ located within the area of the local competition in which the team wishes to compete. Up to two teams may represent a university. Local hosts have the sole discretion to allow more than one team. When a local host agrees to allow two teams, both teams must participate in the same local competition. Local hosts have the discretion to choose how many (provided the minimum number of universities compete) and which universities compete in their local competition.

Each team:

- a. Must strive for diversity when considering team members.
- b. Must consist of undergraduate, graduate, or a combination of undergraduate and graduate students.
- c. Must consist of no fewer than three² and no more than five members.
- d. Can have no alternates. If a team loses one of its members, that member can be replaced no later than two weeks prior to the submission of the written report at the local level. If a team falls below three registered members after this date, they will not be eligible to continue in the competition.

2.2 Team Member Requirements

Each team member must:

- a. complete the official registration form no later than four weeks following the local level kickoff meeting (timely completion of the official registration entitles students to be recognized participants by CFA Institute and ensures that winning team members are eligible to advance to sub-regional, regional and/or global levels). Replacement students must register within one week from the start of their participation;
- b. accept the terms of the participation agreement upon registration;
- c. agree to abide by the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct;

¹A university is defined as a degree-granting institution that primarily delivers teaching to students in a traditional educational setting, such as a classroom, as opposed to primarily through electronic media. This includes universities that provide online learning in addition to their classroom-based course offerings. If, due to extenuating circumstances, the university is temporarily offering classes virtually only, they will still be allowed to register team(s). The institution should hold educational accreditation by an accrediting agency recognized by mainstream academia to operate as an accreditor or authorization by a government organization, whichever is the standard for the country where the institution is located. CFA Institute may, at its sole discretion, grant exceptions to this rule on a case-by-case basis.

²If, because of extenuating circumstances, such as serious illness/injury, less than three members of a team are able to attend one of the events (local, sub-regional, or regional, or global), that team will not be disqualified provided that there are still at least three official members on the team. If a team member is formally dismissed from or voluntarily quits the team, and the remaining team comprises less than three members, that team will no longer be eligible to participate in the competition; provided that CFA Institute may grant exceptions to this requirement and permit the team to participate where the departing team member's reason for leaving is unrelated to academic matters or violations of these rules (such as serious illness/injury, financial hardship, or compulsory military service of the departing member).

- d. be a currently enrolled college or university student in an undergraduate or graduate program at the sponsoring university time of the local level kickoff meeting;³ and
- e. be registered for at least a part-time course load, as defined by his or her university, at the time of the local level kickoff meeting.

2.3 Team Member Ineligibility

An individual is ineligible to be a team member, if that individual:

- a. has previously participated as a team member at any level of the CFA Institute Research Challenge on any team that has submitted a written report at the local level;
- b. has been, or is, employed⁴ in a role within the core investment management profession at the time of the local kickoff meeting. Core investment management professionals are those individuals primarily involved in activities related to the investment decision-making process—generally portfolio managers, financial advisors, and research analysts on both the buy and sell side. The core investment management industry is comprised of firms (or larger firm business lines) primarily engaged in asset management (mutual funds, hedge funds, private equity, real estate investment, investment research and ratings, and investment advisory services), wealth management, fiduciary asset ownership (such as pension funds, endowments, and sovereign wealth funds), and their related regulators and standard setters. If an individual’s work was solely an internship,⁵ he or she is permitted to participate as a team member;
- c. has been, or is, a CFA® charterholder;
- d. is employed by CFA Institute or the local host;
- e. is under investigation or has been sanctioned by the CFA Institute Professional Conduct Program; or
- f. has ever been convicted of a felony or crime punishable by more than one year’s imprisonment or has ever engaged in conduct which would violate the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.

2.4 Research

Only team members may conduct research on the subject company for the purposes of the CFA Institute Research Challenge. Teams may use only publicly available information in conducting their research.⁶

³If the team member has graduated at the time of the local, sub-regional, regional, or global final, the team member may still participate in the competition.

⁴ For purposes of these rules “employed” also includes performing services as an independent contractor, consultant, “freelancer,” or other similar service as well as formal employment as an employee.

⁵CFA Institute defines an internship as real-world work experiences in which students fulfill short-term positions within a company or organization in order to gain hands-on experience and develop career-specific skills. Internships may be paid or unpaid, with or without academic credit, and are of varying lengths.

⁶Publicly available information includes:

1. information in company financial statements and press releases,
2. information in the media about the company and its competitors,
3. information produced by data aggregators for general use (e.g., Bloomberg, S&P Global, FactSet, etc.), and

- a. Teams may utilize their industry mentor and/or faculty advisor as resources but may not enlist the help of any other individual who has ever been employed as an investment management professional in conducting research.
- b. The written reports and presentations should be prepared from the perspective of an independent research analyst.
- c. Teams can read existing research on the subject company, but all analysis should be their own; they may not copy analysis (i.e., plagiarize) from another source into their written reports or presentations.⁷ Sourced information should be properly cited using a generally accepted citation system.

2.5 Interaction with Subject Company

Teams may not have contact with subject company corporate executives or board members for the purposes of the CFA Institute Research Challenge other than during the informational session (described in the following text) and the one permitted follow-up communication.

- a. The subject company may provide teams with an informational session. The informational session may include a question and answer (Q&A) session during which time teams may pose questions to the subject company and the subject company may respond.
- b. If the subject company agrees, teams may have one follow-up communication with the subject company prior to the local final. This follow-up communication must be organized by the local host and the contact must be confined to those corporate officers who normally interact with investors, such as investor relations officers, CEOs, or chief financial officers.
- c. Teams may not contact subject company corporate executives for the purposes of the CFA Institute Research Challenge other than the informational session, the Q&A session, and the one permitted follow-up communication.
- d. Teams are permitted to interact with the company as a member of the general public (e.g., teams may dine in a restaurant that is a subject company or take a tour of the subject company if it is publicly available).
- e. Teams may contact the subject company's customers, competitors, former employees, and suppliers in conducting research, including surveys. Contacted individuals should not be known to have ever been employed as an investment management professional. Each team member must identify him/herself as a student and disclose his/her participation in the CFA Institute Research Challenge.
- f. Prior to contacting the subject company, its customers, competitors, former employees, or suppliers, the team must submit its questions to the faculty advisor or industry mentor. The faculty advisor or industry mentor must participate in each communication but only for the purpose of ensuring that no

4. Information provided by the subject company in the informational session and/or any permitted follow-up communication.

Publicly available information does not include:

1. information about the company that is (or should be) known only to staff or some staff employed by the company or firms with whom the company does business, and
2. information that is (or should be) known only to those involved in legal or regulatory proceedings involved with the company.

⁷Volunteer charterholders who mentor or advise students must request and receive permission from their firm to share reports prepared either within their firm or from outside sources. Additionally, all volunteers who work with students should ensure that they understand how to avoid plagiarism and what is required when citing the work of another research analyst.

material nonpublic information is discussed. Faculty advisors and industry mentors are not permitted to ask any questions or provide any opinions on the subject company. The time spent by the faculty advisor or industry mentor while monitoring this kind of communication will not count toward the maximum number of hours allotted for faculty advisor or industry mentor involvement.

2.6 Written Reports

Each team must prepare a written research report on the subject company. Teams may utilize their industry mentor or faculty advisor as a resource but may not enlist the help of any other investment management professionals in writing the content of the report.

The written report must:

- a. conform to the guidelines set forth in Appendix A, “Written Report Guidelines” (the cover page is shown in Appendix B),
- b. not exceed 10 A4-sized pages, but may include an appendix no longer than 20 A4-sized pages,
- c. be written in the English language,
- d. contain only publicly available information,
- e. be the original work of the team members,
- f. be properly cited using a generally accepted citation system,
- g. be prepared from the perspective of an independent research analyst, and
- h. be submitted to the local level host by the deadline established by the host.⁸
- i. The written report will be graded according to the criteria set forth in Appendix C, “Research Report Evaluation Form.”

2.7 Presentations

Each team may make a presentation of their findings to a panel of judges.

- a. Teams may utilize their industry mentor and/or faculty advisor as a resource for guidance, direction, suggestions, and feedback. Teams may not enlist the help of any other person who has ever been employed as an investment management professional or finance faculty member in preparing content or evaluating the presentation (including, but not limited to, mock judging panels).
- b. Teams may utilize presentation coaches or other public-speaking resources as long as those resources do not contribute to the content of the presentation.
- c. The teams may not hand the judges any printed materials before or after the presentations, but the local host can print out the presentation slides for each team and distribute to the judges before the event.
- d. Teams may not use props in their presentation.⁹
- e. Presentations must include source information.

⁸Hosts may impose penalties for late submissions. Penalties may include, but are not limited to, point deductions or disqualification from the competition. The decision to impose penalties and the extent of those penalties is at the discretion of the host.

⁹A prop is defined as an object used by students to enhance or illustrate an aspect of the team presentation.

- f. Only student team members may participate in the presentation. Subject to the limitations of these rules, teams are free to structure their presentations as they wish. However, presentations at the Regional and Global Levels must be in the English language.
- g. The presentation is limited to 10 minutes; however, an additional 10 minutes will be provided to answer questions posed by the judges. Only judges are permitted to pose questions to a team during the Q&A portion of a presentation.
- h. Each presentation will be timed. The timekeeper will provide a one-minute warning and an announcement when time has expired during the presentation. The timekeeper will announce when time has expired during the question and answer period. When the timekeeper announces that time has expired, teams must immediately conclude.
- i. Presentations will be judged according to Appendix D, “Presentation Scoring Sheet.”

RULE 3: FACULTY ADVISOR, INDUSTRY MENTOR, JUDGES, AND GRADERS

3.1 Faculty Advisor

- a. Each team may be provided one faculty advisor. The faculty advisor must be currently employed as a faculty member by the team’s sponsoring university. Teams are not allowed to have more than one faculty advisor.
- b. The faculty advisor will be selected by the team’s university.
- c. The faculty advisor must complete the official registration form no later than two weeks following the local level kickoff meeting.
- d. The faculty advisor must accept the terms of the participation agreement upon registration.
- e. The faculty advisor must agree to abide by the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.
- f. The faculty advisor’s primary responsibility is to provide guidance and direction to the team throughout all levels of competition.
- g. The faculty advisor may not conduct any analysis for the team’s written report or presentation or participate in the presentation.
- h. The faculty advisor may not contribute any research or content to either the written report or the presentation other than by providing guidance, direction, suggestions, and feedback.

3.2 Time Permitted with Faculty Advisor

Teams are permitted to use a faculty advisor on substantive matters for limited hours. Teams may spend up to 10 hours with the faculty advisor prior to submitting the written report. For each local, sub-regional, regional, or global final in which the team competes, the faculty advisor may contribute an additional three hours. Logistical work, such as arranging meeting space and times and class attendance, does not count toward the time limit. Failure to abide by these time limits will result in the team’s and the faculty advisor’s disqualification from the CFA Institute Research Challenge.

3.3 Industry Mentor

Each team may be provided one industry mentor.

CFA Institute

- a. The industry mentor will be selected by the local level host.
- b. The industry mentor must accept the terms of the participation agreement upon registration.
- c. The industry mentor must agree to abide by the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.
- d. The industry mentor may not conduct any analysis for the team's written report or presentation.
- e. The industry mentor may not contribute any research or content to either the written report or the presentation other than by providing guidance, direction, suggestions, and feedback.
- f. Students may not receive assistance from additional finance industry professionals.
- g. It is recommended that industry mentors be CFA charterholders.

3.4 Time Permitted with Industry Mentor

Teams are permitted to use an industry mentor on substantive matters for limited hours. Teams may spend up to six hours with the industry mentor prior to submitting the written report. For each local, sub-regional, regional, or global final in which the team competes, the industry mentor may contribute an additional two hours. Logistical work, such as arranging meeting space and time, does not count toward the time limit. Failure to abide by these time limits will result in the team's and the industry mentor's disqualification from the CFA Institute Research Challenge.

3.5 Judges

- a. Judges will independently evaluate each presentation using the presentation scoring sheet (see Appendix D).
- b. Judges must accept the terms of the participation agreement upon registration.
- c. Judges must agree to abide by the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.
- d. Each local level competition must have a minimum of three judges per panel.
- e. The judges will be selected by the event host. All judges must be investment professionals. It is recommended they have experience writing and reviewing equity research reports.
- f. It is recommended that judges be CFA charterholders.

3.6 Graders

- a. Graders will independently evaluate each written report using the Research Report Evaluation Form (see Appendix C).
- b. Graders must accept the terms of the participation agreement upon registration.
- c. Graders must agree to abide by the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.
- d. Graders will be selected by the event host.
- e. All graders must be investment professionals with experience in writing and reviewing research reports.
- f. It is recommended that graders be CFA charterholders.

RULE 4: LOCAL LEVEL COMPETITION

4.1 Eligibility of Host

Only CFA Institute, CFA Institute member societies, and CFA Institute–approved entities are eligible to serve as local level hosts. All new hosts must be approved by CFA Institute. The local host is responsible for holding the local level competition in its region in accordance with these Rules.

4.2 Competition Requirements

Local level competitions must have at least three universities, as defined in Rule 2.1, committed to participating by the specified competition start date. If fewer than three universities commit to participating by the competition start date in a local level competition, the winning team in that local final will not be eligible to compete at the regional level. If universities drop out of the competition after the competition start date, the winning team in that local final will be eligible to compete at the sub-regional level even if there are fewer than three universities at the end of the local competition. The local level host is responsible for establishing the timetable and deadlines for their local competition and for designating the means by which written reports are submitted for consideration and the manner in which presentations are conducted. It is the responsibility of each local level host to ensure that its local competition schedule is consistent with the sub-regional, regional and global competition schedule established by CFA Institute. The local level host shall provide information about the local level competition schedule and local level requirements to teams no later than the local level kickoff meeting. No decision by the local level host regarding the administration of the local level competition shall conflict with these rules and in the event of any conflict, these rules shall govern. Local level hosts may add additional requirements regarding the administration of their local level competition as long as those requirements do not conflict with these rules. The decisions of CFA Institute interpreting these rules shall be final and binding upon all local level hosts.

Universities participating at the local level must be physically located within the natural geographic region of that university's local host.¹⁰

The winner from each eligible local level competition (as previously defined) will advance to a sub-regional level competition. If the local level competition has at least 24 universities competing, then the top 2 universities will advance to a sub-regional level competition. Only the first-place finisher in local level competitions involving 23 participating universities or fewer will advance to the sub-regional competition. Teams that advance to the sub-regional round may not revise or edit their written report in any way between rounds of the competition. However, teams are free to adjust their presentations between rounds in any manner that complies with these rules. Permitted adjustments include changes to slide formatting and substantive content, including, but not limited to, the investment recommendation and price target.

Local level competitions must adhere to one of the following competition formats which is selected by the local host and disclosed to teams in advance of the local kickoff meeting:

¹⁰Societies may submit requests for an exception to this rule; these requests will be evaluated by CFA Institute.

CFA Institute

- Classic format. The classic format is used when all participating teams present at the local final competition. Typically, these competitions feature three to six teams. Each team submits a written report and gives a presentation to a panel of judges. The winning team will have the highest combined score based on the written report results (50%) and the presentation results (50%).
- Staggered format. The staggered format is used when it is not feasible for all teams to present at the local final, so the scores from the written report and/or the presentation allow only the top teams to advance. Typically, these competitions feature more than six teams and follow two options:
 - Staggered Format A: Each team submits and is evaluated on a written report. The teams (at least three) with the highest written report scores advance to give a presentation to a single panel of judges. If all teams are evaluated by the same graders, the winning team will have the highest combined score based on the written report results (50%) and the presentation results (50%). If the teams are evaluated by different sets of graders (i.e. the team's written report scores are not relative to one another), the winning team will be the team with the highest presentation results.
 - Staggered Format B: Teams are divided into at least two semifinal groups. Each team submits a written report and gives a presentation. Teams are evaluated among their groups, and the top team in each semifinal group based on the combined score of the written report (50%) and the presentations (50%) advances to the local final. The winning team will then be determined in the local final based solely on the presentation scores.
- District format. The district format is used in a large geographic area when travel to and from a central location is not possible. These competitions are allowed only under special circumstances and need to be approved by CFA Institute. Teams are assigned to one of at least three districts. There must be at least four teams in each district. Each team submits a written report and gives a presentation to the district's panel of judges. Each district will send the team with the highest score in that district to the local final. The winning district teams will compete against one another at the local final to determine the winning team. District format competitions with at least 24 universities will send the top two teams to compete at the regional round. District format competitions with at least 48 universities will send the top three teams to compete at the regional round.

For local finals utilizing the staggered format there may be a tie among written report scores in determining which teams advance to the presentation round. In this event, use the tiebreakers outlined in Appendix F.

In the event of a tie at the local final, the winner will be determined using the tiebreakers outlined in Appendix E.

4.3 Host Requirements

Local level hosts must do the following.

- a. Sign and submit the CFA Institute Research Challenge Host Agreement by 14 August 2020 and abide by that agreement and these rules at all times.
- b. Select a publicly traded subject company.
- c. Select the industry mentors, graders, and judges.
- d. Ensure that all team members meet the eligibility requirements set forth in Section 2.2.
- e. Ensure that no team members are ineligible pursuant to Section 2.3.

- f. Send the result of the local level and the winning team's written report to CFA Institute within two days of completion of the local final.
- g. Conduct the local level completion in accordance with these rules and the local level host's competition schedule and procedures.

All decisions of the local level host are final and binding on local level teams but subject to the review of CFA Institute.

4.4 Travel and Accommodations

Participants and volunteers are responsible for any and all expenses incurred for travel and accommodations related to the local level competition unless the local host otherwise agrees to be responsible.

RULE 5: SUB-REGIONAL, REGIONAL, AND GLOBAL LEVEL COMPETITIONS

5.1 Sub-Regional, Regional, and Global Level Host

CFA Institute will act as the host for the sub-regional, regional, and global level competitions. CFA Institute establishes the schedule for the sub-regional, regional, and global competitions.

CFA Institute offers the Research Challenge in a manner accessible to individuals with documented disabilities in compliance with the law. Where required by law, CFA Institute will offer reasonable accommodations to disabled team members, which may include reasonably necessary waivers from or modifications to these rules for the disabled team member. Contact researchchallenge@cfainstitute.org for instructions on how to request an accommodation for your disability.

If, for reasons beyond the control of CFA Institute, such as labor strikes, Acts of God, natural disaster, government travel restrictions, health crises, judicial orders, fire or other casualty, civil commotion, terrorism or threats of terrorism, outbreak of disease or illness, the event format may need to be modified or, in extreme cases, cancelled.

5.2 Sub-Regional Competition and Scoring

Sub-regions are pre-determined using established geographic and political areas.

During the sub-regional round teams will be evaluated on their submitted report and a recorded 10-minute presentation. The report will be submitted by the local host and no changes can be made from the report that was evaluated locally. The presentation will be recorded using a format to be specified by CFA Institute. There will be no question and answer.

CFA Institute will send the written report from each team in that sub-region to a group of graders. These graders will score reports for all the teams competing against each other in that sub-region. For the presentations, teams will compete within the same sub-region. Judges will score presentations for all teams competing against each other in that sub-region. The overall score will be based on 50% written report score and 50% presentation score. Sub-regional graders will assess the report score using Appendix C. Sub-regional judges will assess the presentation score using Appendix E. In the event a tie, the winner will be determined as per Appendix F.

In order to eliminate the fluctuating scores between graders (reports) and judges (presentations), winners are determined using an average ranking for each team as opposed to the average raw score.

Sub-regional winners advance to the regional level. Sub-regional competitions advance teams to the regional level as follows:

NUMBER OF SUB-REGIONAL TEAMS	TEAMS ADVANCING TO REGIONAL
10-12	4
13-15	5

5.3 Regional Competition and Scoring

During the regional round, teams will be randomly assigned to semifinal breakouts. Teams will advance from the semifinal breakouts to the Regional Final.

Throughout the regional round, scores will be based 100% on presentation scores. Regional judges will assess the presentation score using Appendix D. In the event of a tie, the winner will be determined as per Appendix E.

In order to eliminate the fluctuating scores between judges, winners are determined using an average ranking for each team as opposed to the average raw score.

Regional winners advance to the global round. If the regional level competition has over 16 teams competing, then the top two teams will advance to a global level competition.

5.4 Global Competition and Scoring

Scores will be based 100% on presentation scores. Global judges will assess the presentation score using Appendix D. In the event a tie, the winner will be determined as per Appendix F.

In order to eliminate the fluctuating scores between judges, winners are determined using an average ranking for each team as opposed to the average raw score.

The global champion will receive a scholarship for their universities in the amount of US $10,000. This scholarship should be used to directly support educational expenses of students at that university.

Appendix A – Written Report Guidelines

Each team must prepare a written research report on the subject company chosen by the local host. Teams may use their industry mentor or faculty advisor as resources but may not enlist the help of any other professionals in writing the actual report.

The written report must

- be no longer than 10 pages (not including the front cover page provided by CFA Institute) on A4-sized paper (210 mm × 297 mm, 8.27" × 11.69"), although you may include an appendix no longer than 20 A4-sized pages;
- be properly cited using a generally accepted citation system. Generally accepted citation systems include, but are not limited to, the Chicago Manual of Style, the Harvard referencing system, and MLA (Modern Language Association) style.
- include the following information in a header on the first page:
 - Company name
 - Exchange
 - Ticker symbol
 - Sector/Industry
 - Recommendation (buy/sell/hold)
 - Current price (as of __ date)
 - Target price (% increase/decrease)
- contain only publicly available information;
- be the original work of the team members;
- be prepared from the perspective of an independent research analyst;
- be submitted to the local-level host by the deadline established by the host;
- include the front cover provided by CFA Institute with the information in highlighted text filled in (teams must not alter any other part of the cover page, including the CFA Institute logo); and
- contain (but not limited to*) the following sections:
 - Business description
 - Industry overview and competitive positioning
 - Investment summary
 - Valuation
 - Financial analysis
 - Investment risks
 - Environmental, social, and governance

*You may also include other headings for important information not otherwise covered in the previously listed sections.
