Audit Internship Campaign 2017

A KPMG internship is a great way for you to apply your academic knowledge, learn business skills and build your network before you graduate. It will give you industry-leading work experience and help you to find out what is right for you. And it can often lead to a full-time job. Discover how an internship can connect you with the countless opportunities at KPMG.

We are inviting top university students who are about to start their final year of study to join the KPMG Audit team as interns. Audit is all about understanding a business inside-out in order to determine whether or not its financial statements provide a true and fair view of the business of the company. Much of your time as an audit intern will be spent at client offices, talking to the different functions of the organisation being audited to assess business and accounting processes.
